HOW TO USE

SOCIAL MEDIA DURING YOUR

PERSONAL INJURY LAWSUIT

DO NOT POST ABOUT YOUR CASE

Do not post ANYTHING about your case online. Reduce the information the other side has to use against you.

MINIMIZE YOUR SOCIAL MEDIA REACH

If possible, set your accounts to private or friends only. Privacy is critical to your case.

DO NOT POST ABOUT YOUR INJURY

Any updates about your injury, medical treatments, surgeries, or physical therapy can be used against you.

DO NOT POST ANY TRAVEL PHOTOS

Appearing to be well enough to travel or take a vacation can be damaging to your case.

ASK FAMILY AND FRIENDS TO DO THE SAME

Similar to yourself, friends, or family posting about you can harm your case. Ask them not to post anything about you until your case is resolved.

Christian
H&H Client

While Christian was driving on his way to work for a late-night shift, a woman made an illegal left turn crashing into Christian's car. The impact spun Christian's vehicle and pinned his body under his car's dashboard. Christian planned to handle things directly through the insurance company until his pain became unbearable a few days later. That is when someone told him he should call Herrman and Herrman PLLC for help with his injuries and car accident case.

Once Christian called our offices, we knew we could help and got straight to work. Our first goal was to make sure he got the medical help he needed so he would no longer need to miss any work. Soon after, our team was able to get him a settlement for his vehicle repairs, time missed from work, and medical bills.

Being injured in an accident can be confusing and overwhelming for you and your family. Many decisions, from medical bills to insurance claims, must be made quickly. That is why finding an experienced attorney to help guide you through the process is critical to your case's success. With over 20,000 successfully resolved cases, we know what it takes to win. KEEP PETS SAFE WHILE DRIVING

Secure your pet in the vehicle

Ensure your pet is properly restrained or contained inside your vehicle before your trip. Consider finding a specifically designed pet seatbelt, carrier, or barrier to avoid injuries.

Make sure your pet is secure and comfortable in your car

You can make them feel comfortable by bringing pet food and treats or toys that can reduce anxiety and allow them to relax while in your car.

Never leave them unattended inside your vehicle

Do not leave your pets alone in vehicles. Cars heat up fast, even if the windows are slightly open.

Do not let pets stick themselves out of the window

While it seems fun for the pets to stick their heads out the window, the wind or other objects can seriously irritate or injure their noses and eyes.

Herrman & Herrman Pet Club

MEET ROSSEAU!

Rousseau is the sweetest, most loving, and most loyal dog you can find. She is a seven-year-old Bluetick Coonhound mix. She is the biggest cuddle bug and is totally content to spend all afternoon lying around or watching TV. If she's not doing that, she's playing with her favorite moose toy. Mr. Moose has been her favorite toy, and she'll toss it around and nibble on it.

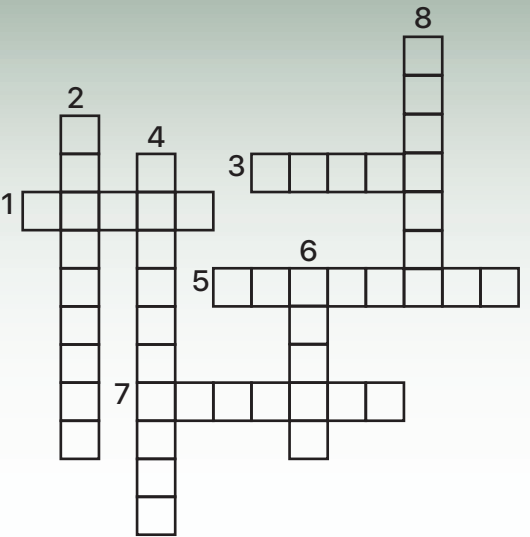

Rousseau is incredibly smart and loves working for her food and treats. She knows several commands, such as down, sit, and shake. She is crate-trained and knows how to obey "heel" on her walks. She also understands "off" if she sneaks onto your couch.

If you are interested in adopting Rousseau, find more info on our website!
