MEMORIAL DAY SAFETY TIPS

Every year, millions of Americans look forward to Memorial Day. Some even see it as the unofficial start of summer activities. Many people receive the day off, spend their free time with family, and enjoy leisure activities. In many places, Memorial Day is also the marker for aquatic areas like pools, splash pads, and water parks to open their gates officially. However, as with all holidays, knowing the best ways to stay safe while celebrating is essential. Here are our top tips for being this Memorial Day holiday.

PRACTICE WATER AND POOL SAFETY

While pools and water parks are fun for Memorial Day celebrations with family, it is integral to maintain proper water and pool safety. Ensure that young children are not swimming without a chaperone and that all who choose to swim are sufficient swimmers.

GRILL OUT SAFELY

One of the most significant hazards on Memorial Day is grilling. It would be best if you always remembered proper grilling safety. That means never grilling indoors, keeping your grill out from underneath low-hanging trees, protecting yourself with grilling mitts and long-handled grill tools, and always following the manufacturer's instructions for setting up and using your grill.

GET A DESIGNATED DRIVER

Many families and friend groups choose to travel over the long Memorial Day holiday. It's vital that you stay safe on any long drive. That means you should buckle up, use proper car seats for infants and toddlers, reduce distraction by staying off your phone while behind the wheel, and always practice defensive driving. If you're going on an exceptionally long drive, consider splitting it up into numerous drivers to avoid anyone getting drowsy as they drive.
